Foothill Ranch, CA, March 24, 2020 —

Image Options a California based experiential design and fabrication company has quickly pivoted its workforce to help the community. With all industries hit hard during the COVID-19 IO had a choice to either send everyone home or quickly respond by retooling and becoming of service to the crisis.

“Our goal is to help the local community with procuring some of the critical items that are currently incredibly difficult to acquire, while maintaining a core level of employment for our staff.” – Dave Bales, Chief Executive Officer stated. “We have an incredibly talented team that is used to engineering complex projects combined with a large inventory of raw materials. After receiving a request from an IO family member at a local hospital, we realized the position we were in to provide a much needed product. Within 48 hours the team was in full production of critical medical PPE.” – said Bales.

Image Options is now helping the local communities in both Orange County and San Jose, by producing the following: face shields and face masks, pop-up shelters (indoor and outdoor), dividers for fever centers, pop-up private rooms, as well as isolation areas and dividers for large open spaces such as gymnasiums

With two fabrication centers, one in San Jose, CA and one in Foothill Ranch, CA, with over 200,000 sq ft of open capacity to be utilized in the manufacturing of these immediate needs.
